COUNT TOLSTOI REPORTED DEAD

Bulletin from St. Petersburg Generally Credited in Europe.

HAS BEEN VERY ILL

But News Still Lacks Confirmation from the Count's Immediate Family.

HIS AGE IS ADVANCED

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—The report that Leo Tolstol is dead is still unconfirmed by the family. There are sufficient reasons however to believe that the count has succumbed to his growing infirmities and has passed away.

Vienna, Nov. 22.—It is generally believed in government circles that Count Leo Tolstol is dead.

He Has Been Ill

London, Nov. 22, 3 a. m.—A bulletin to the Central News from S. Petersburg reports that Count Tolstol is dead. The Central News makes the bulletin public with the statement that the report needs confirmation.

The report, however, has caused no little uneasiness among the friends of the Russian writer. It is known that despite denials the Count's health has been precarious for some months past. This fact, taken with his advanced age, leads many of his friends to fear the worst.

All efforts to secure a positive statement in regard to the former have failed. It is known, however, that Tolstol has been ill in health ever since his excommunication, a year ago, and constant reports have said that the great Russian was slowly pining away. In fact, occasional correspondents have declared that the action of the holy synod in placing him within the ban was directly responsible for his feebleness, and would ultimately be responsible for his death.

The fact that the czar whom Tolstol had considered his warm friend, did not stand between him and excommunication, depressed the great novelist more than the fact itself, and over since the memorable decree the farmer-count has not only been low-spirited, but in exceedingly feeble health.

SENATE MAY ADOPT TOM REED'S RULES

Senator Platt of Connecticut Wants Ironclad Rule to Limit Debate in the Senate.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Senator O. H. Platt of Connecticut intends to propose again the adoption of gag rules for the senate. He will introduce the resolution providing for a change of the senate rules in a way to limit debate, which he offered at the special session last March.

Hitherto every movement in this direction has failed, because the right of unlimited debate in the senate has been regarded as inherent to the constitution of that body. In the belief that it is the purpose of the republican leaders to attempt to force the new rule through at the coming session, the Democratic senators are preparing for a vigorous opposition, and a long and bitter fight will be developed.

BADGER FOLLOWS MISS ELLEN STONE

Mr. Ostrander expects to assume the post of an instructor in a missionary school at Samakov, and his bride will help him. The bride's mother is Mrs. George W. Cole of this city, and the wedding took place at her home. Mr. Ostrander is from Troy, N. Y.

HAS TEN SALOONS; POPULATION, 125

The Village of Pembin in Northern Wisconsin, Supplies a Large Number of Grog Shops.

Oconto, Wis., Nov. 22.—The greatest number of saloons to the smallest population in the state of Wisconsin has been discovered. It is Pembin, hamlet in the northern part of Marinette county. The village has a resident population of 125 and there are ten saloons, all of which seem to be doing a flourishing business. A great deal of lumbering is carried on in the vicinity of the town, the headquarters of the Holmes logging railroad being near the village, which, no doubt, combine to make the existence of such a large number of saloons possible.

TWENTY-NINE KNOWN DEAD.

At Least That Number Perished in Smuggler-Union Disaster.

Telluride, Colo., Nov. 22.—The number of victims of the disaster in the Smuggler-Union mine is now known to be at least twenty-nine, with a considerable portion of the mine yet unexplored. Besides the twenty-two bodies taken out and identified at night, seven were located in the afternoon in the north end of the ninth level, but the gas is still too strong to permit the rescuers to reach them, and their identity is as yet unknown. Several members of the searching parties were overcome in their efforts to bring out the bodies.

LIBERALS PLAN TO ATTACK PANAMA

Battleship Iowa Lands Marines to Protect Railroads—French is Ordered to Colon..

Colon, Nov. 22.—The government at Panama is hourly expecting an attack from the liberal insurgents. Intrenchments are being thrown up and reinforcements are being hurried into the city.

It is expected that the United States battleship Iowa will land a strong force of marines at Panama to assist in keeping open traffic on the Isthmian railroad.

United States Consul General Guder, Captain Perry of the United States battleship Iowa, and the secretaries of the government held a conference at Panama yesterday. The latter claimed that the conductors of the train should not have allowed the armed liberals to embark on the train at Los Cascades.

Captain Perry replied that the government should protect free transit on the Isthmus and ought to have prevented the embarkment of the liberals.

The United States gunboat Machias is understood will not interfere with any of the fighting, but will protect the railroad and foreign interests.

The United States gunboat Marlin, which sailed from Key West for Colon on November 18, has been signaled.

French Cruiser Ordered to Colon.

Paris, Nov. 22.—The French cruiser which has been stationed at the Island of Martinique has been ordered to proceed to Colon to protect French interests.

A HOME ART.

The Simple Secret of Living Amicably With Others.

Vocations for both men and women are constantly increasing in number and variety, and our young people are busy fitting themselves to fill them worthily. This is as it should be. But there is one vocation to which almost every one is called and for which it is to be deplored that so many are not at all fitted. We refer to the art of living amicably with others, says a writer in Good Housekeeping.

Did we study to perfect ourselves in this as we do in music, painting and the like we should be more than repaid.

Certainly few things are more important.

If one is to live in the midst of his own family circle, he has need to be courteous, considerate, unselfish and tactful, and if one is so unfortunate as to be without family ties it is no less needful that he should be able to make himself a welcome and agreeable inmate of another's home.

One need not be friendless and forlorn even if he is poor in the nearer and dearer ties of relationship. The amiable, agreeable and helpful members of society never fail to find a ready welcome.

A lady who seems to have solved the problem of how to live amicably in a most uncongenial atmosphere once told the secret of her success. When she was a young girl, her parents went abroad, leaving her with a cousin who had lately married. The cousin's wife and herself were as unlike as though they had been denizens of different planets, and, besides being uncongenial, they did not even like each other. But, to the young visitor's surprise, she found they got on together much more harmoniously than she and her own sister, whom she dearly loved.

On reflection she decided that the reason for the absence of disagreements and differences was due to the fact that neither felt at liberty to express her mind to the other with the freedom in which members of the same family indulge. The restraint was wholesome and the result admirable.

Indeed no better rule could be found than the one she evolved from her experience—namely, to exercise some of the same restraint and courtesy in our intercourse with our dearest that we do with mere acquaintances.

BLOODY RIOTS OCCUR IN ATHENS; SEVEN KILLED, THIRTY WOUNDED

Students Lead the Mob—Protest Against the Translation of the Gospel Starts the Trouble—The King's Palace is Closely Guarded.

Athens, Nov. 22.—As a result of the agitation organized by the students of the Athens university against the proposal to translate the new testament into modern Greek seven persons were killed, thirty severely injured, and many more or less seriously wounded here today. The situation is extremely critical and another more serious encounter between the students and the military is expected to occur at any moment. Late at night cabinet meeting was held to provide for extreme emergency, and General Vassos was placed in command of the armed forces. A force of 800 marines has been landed to help maintain order. As a result of the demonstrations of the day the metropolitan, the gendarmerie and the prefect of police have resigned office. During the demonstration in the afternoon several shots were fired at M. Theotokis, the Greek premier, and a bitter opponent of the students. Twenty thousand persons assembled around the ruins of the temple of Jupiter Olympus and took part in the demonstration. A resolution was passed calling on the holy synod to excommunicate any person who translated the gospels into Greek as now spoken. Eight hundred marines were landed and co-operated with the troops in patrolling the locality. The assemblage was followed by a fatal encounter between the military and the more turbulent demonstrators. The students still hold the university buildings. Great excitement still prevails. Strong military detachments guard the palace and the residence of the premier. Everywhere anxious groups are discussing the situation. Heartrending scenes occurred when the bodies of the dead were handed over to their relatives. Opposition deputies paraded the streets during the day, excelling the rioters by violent language. There were no further disturbances during the day, but it is feared that there will be a renewal of disorders tomorrow. Among those slightly injured are the prefect of police of Athens and the prefect of Attica.

BRIGHT LECTURE IN SCHOOL COURSE

Charles W. Seymour of New York Talks on the Life of Frederick the Great

A series of historical lectures is being given before the students of the High school by Charles W. Seymour, of New York, who is one of the ablest speakers ever heard in this city and who lectures almost exclusively to high schools, normal schools and universities. Before Mr. Seymour came to Janesville Prof. Buell had heard of him several times through personal friends and educators who had heard his lectures and wrote Supt. Buell if he ever had a chance to secure Mr. Seymour for the Janesville school not to miss it.

When Mr. Seymour came he asked to be allowed to give one lecture to the school and then they could engage him or not as they chose. Last Monday after school he lectured on "Marie Antoinette" and the school was so delighted with it that the sum of money necessary to secure a course of three lectures was raised at once by voluntary contributions.

Yesterday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock, Mr. Seymour lectured on "Frederick the Great." He is a rapid, fluent, forcible speaker and by the brilliancy of his lecture and dramatic style of delivery he holds his audience, scholars and teachers alike, as if by some magic spell. He introduced yesterday's lecture by giving something of the character of Frederick's grandfather, and his cruel, mad father, who hated Frederick, made his home happy, tortured him, and would have killed him if Charles VI, emperor of Austria, had not interfered.

Another lecture on the course probably on "Charlemagne," will be given some afternoon next week. Mr. Seymour is carrying on a course at the Whitewater normal and the Beloit high school together with the course in this city.

INCORPORATE NEW ELECTRIC ROAD

The Milwaukee & Lake Geneva Street Railway Company Surveying Its Right-of-Way.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 22.—The Milwaukee & Geneva street railway company was incorporated yesterday with a nominal capital of $25,000 by George W. Peck, W. H. Churchill and John F. Honovan. The road has applied for a franchise to build an electric surface road from Milwaukee to Lake Geneva. Mr. Donovan said last night that ten engineers are now at work on surveying the right of way.

COL. ARTHUR LYNCH SENT TO COMMONS

Irish Nationalists Elect Boer Soldier to a Seat in the British Parliament.

Galway, Nov. 22.—Arthur Lynch, Colonel of the Second Irish Brigade in the Boer war, was elected to a seat in Parliament today.

It is freely declared by his opponents that he will not be permitted to take his seat, and even that he will be arrested on the charge of high treason the moment he steps on foot on British soil.

The election of Colonel Lynch was generally anticipated, but his plurality is greater than even his supporters had expected. He received 1,247 votes, against 473 cast for his opponent, Horace Plunkett, the Unionist candidate. At the last election the Nationalists lost the seat.

This week a First ward family received seven replies from "Girl Wanted" classified ad placed in The Gazette. There are plenty of servant girls wanting places.

CHILD IS BORN ON A TRAIN

Crew and Woodsmen Passengers Tenderly Care for the Mother. Oconto, Wis., Nov. 22.—A woman from Pulifer, Wis., gave birth to a male child on the Northwestern passenger train near Lakewood, this county, Tuesday. She was on her way to Laona. There were no other women on the train and woodsman and the train crew cared for her as tenderly as their experience would permit. She was taken off the train at Wabeno, where she received medical attention. The child did not survive long.

Party Support. He was a great bore, and was talking to a crowd about the coming local election. Said he: "Gibbs is a good man; he is capable, honest, fearless and conscientious. He will make the very kind of representative we need. He once saved my life from drowning." "Do you really want to see Gibbs elected?" said a solemn-faced old man. "I do, indeed. I'd give anything to see him elected," answered the bore. "Then never let anybody know he saved your life," counseled the solemn-faced man.

PARADE OF 1,000 "JAGS" IN N. Y.

A Syracuse Brewery Gives Away 200 Barrels, and a Rousing Time Was Had.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The spectacle of 1,000 drunken men marching in line, or trying to march in line, was seen on one of the main thoroughfares of this city last evening. The men got their "jags" at the Thomas Ryan Consumers' brewery, which threw open its doors to the public yesterday and allowed everybody to go in and take what beer he wanted.

It was a free day for lunch grabbers. They were among the first on the ground and never left until the last barrel was emptied. Then they all went out together, 1,000 in number, and staggered down the street, singing and carousing. Notwithstanding all this there was little disorder, and not one arrest was made as a result of the free beer party. Over 200 barrels of beer were swallowed at the brewery during the afternoon.

IN HONOR OF THE FOOTBALL TEAM

High School Juniors' Blow-Out at East Side Odd Fellows Hall Last Night.

Junior boys and Junior girls have been busy all day and East Side Odd Fellows' hall, the center of their activity is a mass of purple and white, the class colors, a handsome setting for the banquet and dance which the class is to give this evening in honor of its football. Yards upon yards of purple and white bunting, great ropes of paper chrysanthemums, footballs, class pennants, cosy corners, with easy chairs, heaps of sofa cushions and oriental rugs, potted palms and great feathered white chrysanthemums have transformed the dance hall into a tower of royal beauty.

The banquet will be served at 6:30 o'clock and a dainty supper, provided by the members of the class, will be served by a committee of Freshmen boys and girls under the supervision of G. A. Shurtliff. This hall is also beautiful in purple and white, and before the supper is served white carnations will be placed at each plate and the tables will be strewn with English violets.

After the program there will be the following program of toasts with Miss Elizabeth McKee presiding as mistress:

Welcome—Stowe Lovejoy.
Repose—Charlie Galbraith.
Teast—Rev. R. C. Denison.
Junior Boys—Miss Josephine Fenlon.

Junior Girls—Harold Hall.

Teast—Supt. H. C. Buell.

After the toasts there will be dancing and an informal good time for the balance of the evening. An orchestra of four pieces from the State School for the Blind will furnish music. Tonight's banquet is the first of a series to be given by high school classes in honor of their football teams. The Sophomores will give their reception and banquet at the High school building tomorrow evening and the Seniors are arranging to celebrate their team's victory in winning the Denison cup in the near future.

Strike in Fresno Ends.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—The Examiner says that today the iron founders will return to work on a nine-hour day, with an increase of 2½ cents an hour in wages. In the shops of McCormick Bros., the Western Foundry, the Mechanics' foundry, the Liberty foundry and the Enterprise foundry. These shops have been practically tied up for nearly five months.

Empress Frederick left a fortune of $2,500,000, saved up from her dowry of $250,000, her English allowance of $40,000 a year, her allowance as empress dowager, and the bequest of $750,000 from the duchess of Galliera. By her will she left to each of her children $250,000, but her youngest daughter, Princess Margaret of Hesse, gets in addition the castle of Friedrichshof.

Queen's Condition
IS MORE SERIOUS

Amsterdam, Nov. 22.—It is learned that the present condition of the queen is more serious than was anticipated.

The stories are that the Prince Consort is angry and that his quarrel with Queen Wilhelmina caused her illness, continues to gain currency. The Volksdagblatt alleges that the couple are now completely estranged. The public, who are devoted to the queen, are becoming more and more alarmed by the stories and should they prove true the people are prepared to wreak their indignation upon the Prince Consort.

SPOILED THE KLONDIKE PLOT

The Alaskan Miners' Wild Dream of Revolt Prematurely Revealed.

NO REPUBLIC NOW

One of the Leaders in the Conspiracy Confesses All the Details.

MIDNIGHT SUN ORDER

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—Of all the wild dreams of empire since the days of Louis Riel that concocted by a little band of plotters scattered along the valley of the Yukon from the upper lakes to Circle City is probably the most fantastic yet recorded.

A few days ago the story was made public of the exposure of the conspiracy at Skagway and of hurried measures that were taken by both the Canadian and American officials to thwart the scheme of the plotters to make of the Yukon and Northwest territory a republic. This story was discounted at the time by persons claiming to be informed concerning Alaskan matters. Absolutely authentic information has been secured however, which completely corroborates the first story of the plot to overthrow British authority in the great gold fields of the Yukon.

BIG CROWD LAUGHS WITH CHAMP CLARK

Missouri Statesman Entertained and Delighted People in Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course.

The second entertainment on the Y. M. C. A. lecture course was enjoyed by even a larger audience than attended the opening attraction of the course. Last evening Janesville people had the pleasure of listening to the Hon. Champ Clark, the brilliant Missouri congressman. His lecture was a unique one, being a collection of good stories about prominent congressmen with whom Mr. Clark has been associated in helping to run the ship of state.

Hon. J. M. Whitehead introduced Mr. Clark and prophesied that if the signs of the times are read aright the noted speaker would before long be sent to the United States senate from Missouri. Mr. Clark is a man of striking appearance and imposing stage presence. He has a splendid voice and although he was suffering from a severe hoarseness, last evening, his voice reached to every corner of the room and he spoke very distinctly. His Southern accent is quite noticeable.

It is worthy of remark that Mr. Clark both opened and closed his lecture with a reference to the fact that no matter how we may differ on economic questions, we are all Americans and stand united in a common sympathy. In his introduction Mr. Clark also gave a brief general view of the legislative bodies.

The senate is composed of 90 members, a number soon to be made 92 by the admission of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma and later to 98 by the admission of Alaska, which will be its natural limit unless the Philippines are annexed permanently when the number of senators may exceed 5,000 according to the number of islands that there prove to be.

There is a possibility though, no probability that the number of senators could be increased from 98 to 106 by Texas for that state was admitted to the union with the provision that it could at any time by its own election divide itself into five states. State pride is to great to make such an action probable.

The lower house of congress is composed of 357 representatives and 4 territorial delegates, the latter with all the rights of the former except the right to vote. Senator Matthew H. Carpenter once characterized it as the great American bear garden and the speaker had once reminded the house that he had not said bear garden. It is a place more noted for its brains than its manners and is an example of the survival of the toughest.

The brave, the ambitious and the capable force themselves to the front while the weak, lazy and indifferent are crowded to the wall.

It is the place where a man reaches his true level the quickest. Extremes get in every congress but it had seemed to this peaker that there were more extremes in the fifty-third congress than in any other. In weight the members varied from 460 to 95 pounds, in height from 6 feet 7 to barely 5 feet 5; in age from 81 to a young man who was born since the civil war; in complexion, from a Scandinavian blonde to a South Carolina negro; in capacity from the few great brainy men to a joblot of congressmen with no brains at all; in finances from a multi-millionaire to men who were worth $1,000 less than nothing; in pedigree from President Tyler's son to men who could scarcely tell the names of their grandfathers.

It was a motley crowd of aspiring, aspiring statesmen. Some of the finest repartees have been made by men who were not famous wits. They have been made accidentally. For instance O'Neill when trying to make a speech was constantly interrupted by a member noted for his bitter tongue and finally O'Neill turned on him, saying: "If all the gall in your heart could be turned into your stomach, you'd die instantly of black vomit."

Quotations are sometimes very aptly used. Judge Holden, of Indiana, won the name of the watch dog of the treasury by the vigilance with which he guarded the interests of tax payers but it was said that when Indians would prey on the appropriation, the watch-dog slept. Once after he had advocated such an appropriation, Speaker Henderson neatly quoted: "Tis sweet to hear the honest watch-dog bark hearty welcome as we draw near home."

Mr. Clark paid glowing tribute to the two great men from Maine, Jas. G. Blaine, than whom a more brilliant man never figured in politics, and Thomas Brackett Reed, who, a giant physically and intellectually, in the opinion of the speaker, towers above his contemporaries like another King Saul. The brilliant men from Maine were enemies, why no one knew.

They were widely different in qualifications. Blaine managed men with finesse, Reed accomplished his ends by main strength; Blaine was a money maker, Reed as poor as Lazarus at the gate; Blaine was handsome, Reed is not burdened with personal pulchritude; Blaine had magnetism, Reed has none; men loved Blaine for the charm of his manner, they admired Reed for his brain power. Both were college graduates, both were congressmen, both were republicans and both were unsuccessful candidates for the presidency.

Mr. Clark gave an amusing description of Mr. Reed's personal appearance and recited many instances of his ready wit. The qualities which have given Mr. Reed his immense sway in the house and his power of repartee and biting sarcasm and his leading minority as well as controlling the majority.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed remedies and by constantly failing to cure it, lost interest in it. Since then science has proved cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 40 drops to a tea-spoonful, three times a day, on the bland and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Officials of the immigration department will follow to secure parties to go west in the spring through the Chengoo and St. Paul gateways. The Kootenai country will be brought to the attention of Eastern people by 15,000 folders and 20,000 booklets.

OGDEN H. FETHERS GOES TO HONOLULU

Pythian Grand Chancellor of the World Says the K. of P. Order is in Good Shape.

Ogden H. Fethers, supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the world, was in the city yesterday, says the Milwaukee Sentinel today. Since his election to the supreme chancellorship, Mr. Fethers has been obliged to devote nearly all of his time to work outside this state, visiting the different state jurisdictions. He expects to leave next month for Honolulu.

"The order in the United States," said Mr. Fethers, "is in a most flourishing condition. We have a membership of over 1,000,000 in this country. As regards membership, the order has got into a fast swing and the increase is the largest in recent years. The increase has been larger during the past year than in any other year during the past fifteen or twenty years."

"The endowment rank, or insurance branch of the order, since July 1 has reduced its indebtedness more than $250,000, and will probably be entirely out of debt by April 1, next. This will wipe out the entire shortage of approximately $500,000. No fraternal order has ever so thoroughly mastered a situation confronting it."

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Stomach Trouble and Indigestion a Barbarous and Useless One

We say the old way, but really it is the common and usual one at the present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well, consider the first step in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain food and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity of food usually taken.

In other words, the starvation plan is supposed by many to be the first essential in the cure of weak digestion.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for stomach trouble has been proven time and again, but still the usual advice, when dyspepsia makes its appearance, is a course

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a person suffering from dyspepsia because indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve fibre in the body.

What is needed is abundant nutrition, not less, and this means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and some natural digestive to assist the weak stomach to digest it.

That is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the way they cure the worst cases of stomach trouble.

The patient eats plenty of wholesome food, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him.

And this is in accordance with nature and common sense because in this way the whole system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food, whether the stomach works or not. One of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 1899 grains of meat, eggs and similar food.

Any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remedy of extraordinary value and probably is the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles.

No person suffering from poor digestion and lack of appetite can fail to be immediately and permanently benefited if they would make it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

Woes of Potato Growers.
Potato shippers of the northwest fear that the car shortage is going to deprive them of much of the benefit they hoped to derive from the peculiar conditions which now exist on the market.

This year the bulk of private car refrigerator equipment is owned by the Armour Car Co., and owing to large meat and fruit business there are none of these cars to spare for the potato traffic. In consequence shippers are compelled to accept box cars, and equip each one with a stove as well as send a man in charge of the cars, and this adds considerably to the cost of transportation.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—About 1,000 delegates from California counties and Pacific coast states met here to protest against the threatened repeal of the Geary Chinese exclusion act. Former Congressman Thomas J. Geary, father of the exclusion act, was chosen chairman, and H. A. Mason secretary. All labor unions were represented by delegates, and all coast states sent prominent men to speak for them. It is expected that a strong memorial to Congress in favor of the re-enactment of the exclusion law will be adopted by the convention.

Colorado Telegraph Sold.

Colorado Springs, Col., Nov. 22.—The Colorado Telegraph, the leading evening newspaper of this city, has been sold to a syndicate of local capitalists for $120,000. Lewis Gaylord, owner of the controlling interest, retires, his equity being settled for on a basis of $90,000. The new owners recently secured control of the Evening Mail, and these two papers will be consolidated under the name of the Colorado Telegraph.

Entombed Man's Body Found.

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 22.—The body of Edward Riberty, the carpenter who went into Lake Superior No. 6 mine with the cave of ground from surface on Aug. 29 last, has been recovered. The Lake Superior Iron Company spent nearly $5,000 in the search for the body. It was necessary to drift fifty feet and then sink a shaft fifty feet through loose ground in order to reach the point where the body rested.

Train Robber Pleads Guilty.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Postoffice Inspector Houk has telegraphed that Walter Stratton, alias Ben Starne, one of the highwaymen who held up an M. K. & T. train and robbed the United States mail at Caney, I. T., has entered a plea of guilty to the charge at Antler, I. T. "He was leader of the gang," wired the inspector, "and is an escaped convict from the penitentiary in Tennessee."

STORY OF THE BONINE CASE

Theory Regarding How J. S. Ayres Was Killed.

MODEL OF BODY IN COURT.

Mrs. Bonine Apparently Unmoved by Address of Assistant District Attorney — Mr. Taggart Outlines Government's Position.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—In the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine on the charge of killing James Seymour Ayres, Jr., the taking of testimony was begun. The presentation of the case on behalf of the government was made by Assistant District Attorney Hugh T. Taggart, and after he had concluded a number of witnesses were heard. Perhaps the most gruesome exhibit ever seen in a case where a woman appeared as the defendant, is an exact reproduction in papier mache of the body of James Seymour Ayres, the murdered man, as it was found in his room at the Kenmore hotel.

Dummy Shows Bullet Holes.

The fictitious body, with bullet holes gapping through the painted sides, so tinted as to resemble human flesh, will be given a prominent position in the court room. It will be placed on a bier, covered with a white sheet, and, while in full view of the jury, will be at all times directly in front of the woman charged with the murder of Ayres. The measurements and proportions of the body, or mannikin, were taken from the dead body of young Ayres. The head is perfectly formed. Every mark, stain or bruise, and peculiarity found upon the original is reproduced, and to all appearances it is a real corpse. Three bullet holes gape from the body and limbs. The limbs of the body are wired, like those of a skeleton, so that it can be made to act and assume any position in a human being.

Mrs. Bonine Is Unmoved.

Mrs. Bonine was apparently unmoved by Mr. Taggart's address. Once or twice during the address she leaned over and spoke to her attorneys. The witnesses of the day did not throw any new light upon the killing. He told of the quarrels between them, saying that Ayres ceased to speak to her and that she complained of his ingratitude.

"We expect to show," he said, "that while she made advances to him Ayres did not avail himself of the opportunity thus offered beyond dancing with her again."

Claim Shooting Was Unprovoked.

Outlining the government's position, Mr. Taggart said that it would be contended that Ayres had retired when the person who killed him entered the room and that she came in through the window; that he arose and started toward her; that she shot him, the first wound being the fatal one in the breast. Naturally his mouth had filled with blood, and as naturally he had put his hands to his mouth. Then he had grasped the pistol, thus accounting for the blood upon it.

Tells of Finding the Body.

The first witness who testified about the events directly connected with the death of Ayres was Daniel Woodhouse, the colored waiter in the Kenmore hotel, who discovered the body of the young man. He said that at 8:30 on the morning of May 16 he was asked by Miss Minas, who occupied a room next to Ayres, to go to the latter's room, she saying that on the night before she had heard strange noises in the room. He first discovered the body by looking through the keyhole, and afterward saw it through the transom. He also told of giving the alarm and of the subsequent investigation into the tragedy. He said that Ayres' body lay upon the floor and was doubled up.

"McKinley Carnation" Named.

Kansas City, Nov. 22.—The "McKinley carnation" contest was the attraction at the flower show at Convention hall, and the prize of $100 offered for the most perfect specimen of the pink carnation, the favorite flower of the late President McKinley, was awarded to E. T. Graves of Richmond, Ind. The bloom, with much ceremony, was then formally named "The McKinley." Describing the winning carnation, Mr. Graves said: "It is a hybrid. The color is brighter than that of the famous pink."

Queen Wilhelmina Better.

Amsterdam, Nov. 22.—It is now known that the premature confinement of Wilhelmina occurred two days after she had attended the dedication of the hospital for consumptives, founded by the queen dowager. Prof. Halberstina, the gynecologist attending the royal invalid, asserts that the critical stage of her illness has passed, and that she will be able to go about in a bath chair within a few days.

Street Car Blown Up.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 22.—Another street car was blown up by dynamite at night. This occurred at Greenridge. The car was badly shattered, and an old lady, the only occupant, became hysterical, though she escaped injury. This is the fifth outrage of its kind in two weeks.

Fire in Whitney Opera House.

Detroit, Nov. 22.—Fire which broke out in the Whitney Grand Opera House did $10,000 damage before it was extinguished. The theater, which is owned by Stephen A. Baldwin of this city, was controlled by E. D. Stair. The loss is covered by insurance.

FOUR KILLED, SEVEN INJURED.

Head-end Collision Between Louisville and Nashville Freight Trains.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22.—Four trainmen were killed and seven injured in a head-end collision between two Louisville & Nashville freight trains at Hughes' Sliding, seven miles from this city. The dead are: William Bell, colored, brakeman; T. A. Cogbill, engineer; Anderson Irving, colored, fireman; J. C. Rattenberry, conductor. Injured: Robert Christian, colored, brakeman; M. H. Everlin, engineer; Frank Fancher, colored, brakeman; W. H. Hughes, coal inspector; Preston Pearce, colored, fireman; W. F. Shannon, conductor; C. Shannon, flagman. Travel was delayed for five hours.

Passenger Agents in Wreck.

Truckee, Cal., Nov. 22.—The passenger agents' special had head-end collision with a freight train at Boca. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Parker of Chicago were slightly bruised; Mrs. H. N. Butterfield of Milwaukee received bruises on the neck and back, and Mrs. W. L. Price of Kansas City had a rib broken. Many other passengers sustained slight injuries, but refused to give names.

HOPE RESTS IN ANNEXATION.

Officer Declares Nothing but American Troops Can Save Cuba.

New York, Nov. 22.—Lieutenant-Commander Lucien Young of the United States navy has arrived here from Havana on leave of absence. He is captain of the port at that city, and has charge of all marine matters in Cuba. In discussing the relations between Cuba and the United States, he expressed himself in favor of annexation, saying: "The economic conditions of Cuba at the present time are worse than ever in its history, even worse than at the close of the ten years' war. Its sugar is being sold at $3.134 for 100 pounds when it costs 3.70 to raise it; ten per cent of the tobacco crop is unsold and sweating in the barns. There is not a candidate booked for office in the senate or in the congress who could sign his name to a $3 check. All the successful industries of Cuba are dependent upon the United States, and annexation is the only salvation of Cuba, for annexation means free trade with us."

Teacher Stabbed in the Back.

Savannah, Mo., Nov. 22.—Luther Montgomery, a teacher in the school at Cawood, ten miles north of Savannah, was stabbed in the back by four of his pupils. Just before the recess hour, and while his back was turned, four young men, Miller, Craig, and two named Bedford, none of whom are over 18 years of age, slipped up behind Montgomery and dealt him a blow with a knife in the back of the head. He was then set upon and dragged to the floor, where he received three other wounds, one in the neck, one in the shoulder, and another in the back.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Threatening with rain tonight, turning to snow.

PROSPERITY UNPRECEDENTED

The United States is the only country in the world that has more business than it can attend to. The present activity in industrial and transportation circles is beyond all precedent. The resources at command are wholly inadequate to the requirements of the occasion. Here, for example, as Pittsburg, one of the great centers of the steel and iron trade. It is swamped with orders which it cannot fill, owing to the lack of means of getting the goods to customers. The Dispatch of that city, describing the situation says:

"The spectacle of miles and miles of freight cars laden with merchandise which the railroads, through their inadequate facilities and through an unparalleled congestion, cannot deliver to their destination is one that should appeal to the railroad officials themselves, if it has not already done so. The further fact that hundreds of business men stand to pay heavy penalties on contracts which they are unable to fill for the same reason is neither pleasant to the parties affected nor to the credit of the city."

The Dispatch regards the condition as an alarming one, because it may result in business being driven away from the city because of the poor and insufficient carrying facilities, and it calls on the chamber of commerce to take action looking to the providing of a better transportation system. It is quite possible, however, that the railroads are not at fault, but have been caught in a rush unprepared. It is hardly conceivable that they would willingly sacrifice such patronage.

Nor is Pittsburg the only place which makes similar complaints—that it has more orders to meet than it can take care of. The transactions in the leading commercial towns are on an unparalleled scale, and railroads, steamers and canal boats all have more freight offered than they can promptly transport. It is a high tide of prosperity such as the country has never known before.—Troy Times.

The congested condition of traffic at Pittsburg is being experienced in many parts of the country, and is indeed an index to "prosperity unprecedented." The railroad companies are so short of rolling stock that they are compelled to enforce the time limit on unloading cars, and a demurage of one dollar per car for every 24 hours after the first day, is charged to shippers who fail to comply.

While the enforcement of this rule has occasioned some hardship, and complaint to individual shippers, it is gratifying to know that it means good times in all parts of the country.

When the railroads are busy, everybody is busy, and the natural result is a busy and prosperous world. The business of the country is not abnormal, and unless confidence is destroyed by unwise and pernicious legislation, there is no reason why present conditions should not continue.

It is a poor time to theorize and experiment, but a good time to saw wood, when there is plenty of wood in sight. Better to let well enough alone, than to upset prosperity by trying to improve it.

NOT BURDENSONE

There is much talk about reducing the taxes, but very few people would realize that there are any government taxes, unless they were told by the newspapers. The taxes are not burdensome any more.—Marquette Eagle.

The truthfulness of the statement made by the "Eagle" will not be questioned by any unprejudiced mind. The war tax collected through Internal revenue stamps was so evenly distributed that it caused no distress, and the revenue realized was sufficient to pay the war debt. The tax will be removed by the next congress and the people will never realize that they were asked to contribute for unusual expense.

The old argument that "the tariff is a tax" is so shop-worn, that it is seldom used. Prosperity at home is now universal and abundant, that people have neither the time nor the inclination to discuss the tariff question as a tax. The necessities of life are so reasonable in price that any industrious man has no trouble in supplying them, and many of the luxuries are within the reach of the average wage earner.

Labor of every class is in active demand and the average wage is better than at any other time in the nation's history. The savings banks are loaded with money, representing the savings of men and women who are prompted by an ambition to become capitalists. More people own their homes than ever before and contentment and happiness is the rule, not the exception.

The man who is earning $15.00 per week and pays $15.00 for a suit of clothes made of American goods, has discovered that he is infinitely better off than when he was working half the time for half the money and paying $10 for a suit of foreign shoddy.

The tariff that protects American industries and labor is a blessing and not a tax and is so regarded today by thinking people, who are not blinded by prejudice.

While a revision on some articles may be necessary to protect and stimulate home industries, there is no demand for free trade.

The representatives in congress are in close touch with the people, and it is safe to say that no radical changes will be made.

THAT CAMPAIGN TRAIN

The airy and business-like manner in which John Strang disposes of campaign train, is to say the least refreshing. Mr. Strang is a good manager, and deserves the success that has come to him in a business way. He says he spent three or four days at railroad headquarters for the single purpose of making a contract for a train for the gubernatorial candidate based on the proposition not to exceed $50.00 per day. The only mistake that the contractor made was that he didn't drop off the decimal and start it on a $5.00 proposition. It might have required a little more time to consummate the deal, but $5.55 per day would have been quite a saving.

The campaign train under ordinary circumstances would not be worth discussing but when used by a reform candidate for governor, whose principal stock in trade was anti-pass and anti-almost-every-thing-else, it assumes a different aspect.

The railroads of the country are well managed. They are officered by men of ability, whose salaries are princely as compared with the compensation of governors, or men in public life. They are diplomats as well and are constantly engaged in questions both political and commercial.

It is safe to assume that any railroad in the country would be glad to furnish a campaign train to a winning candidate, at a nominal price, at any time when it was desired. The price paid for the train last fall was a mere bagatelle and Mr. Strang very well understands that it does not establish a precedent on a business basis. There was just about money enough in it to pay the running expenses of the train. If the contract and privileges could be duplicated for business purposes and trains could be hired at a pro rata rate, they would all be under contract for a year, by private parties within a week.

Railroads frequently speculate on futures. They do not always win and the chances are that nothing was gained by the courtesies extended to the party in Wisconsin. But it is idle for Mr. Strang or the parties interested to claim that railroad trains are in the market at $60.00 a day for ordinary use.

Times are so good that men who have no time for courtship find no trouble in securing a wife by advertising. A Dakota man recently placed a want ad in a matrimonial journal, which brought him a helpmate from Milwaukee. The couple met by appointment at Council Bluffs, where they were married and where they will set up their new home.

The manufacturers' convention now in session at Washington, is in favor of protection but recommends reciprocal relations where they can be effected without danger to home industries. Sentiment expressed may help to congress in discussing the question. Two hundred delegates representing almost every industry are in attendance.

There are no insects on John Strang as a railroad contractor. He has gained a wide reputation at a single stroke. There are great possibilities in the railway business, and Mr. Strang ought to be in the line of promotion. He would find no trouble in keeping several roads busy the year round.

There are several state institutions scattered over the state that the governor should take time to visit before he starts out on his campaign tour. The work might be delegated to his private secretary, or possibly the Lieutenant governor could be induced to lend a hand.

Miss Stone, the captive missionary is now annoyed by a native lover. Cupid appears to be no respecter of lands or conditions. If Miss Stone succeeds in escaping from captivity and from the love of a bandit she will be entitled to congratulations.

PRESS COMMENT

Fond du Lac Reporter: Since Gov LaFollette has returned to the state capital, and taken up the duties of his office, the press has had little to say about Jerre C. Murphy and his duties as private secretary. As acting governor of Wisconsin, he was the "whole thing" every day.

The Wausau Argus Republican, the Stephens-LaFollette campaign banner should read: "We believe in a corrupt practice act and an anti-pass law—for others."

Appleton Crescent: It seems that what the Sultan really gave France in the way of damages was a promissory note. Probably when the paper wears out, he will be willing to give her another.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Boston is supposed to be authority on questions of grammar and if the following squib had appeared in a paper in any other state city it would have caused much merriment to the staid people of the Hub city. The paragraph referred to is taken from the Boston Globe, and says: "The experiments in Germany in the running of electric cars at the rate of 100 miles in an hour have not been successful. They could not keep up so tremendous a pace. And had they ought to?"

Boston is simply leading the procession on modern education. The three R's are not in it.

Whitewater Gazette: Again there comes reports that "Dr." Dowie is in trouble. A receiver has been asked for in the lace industry which the "healer" founded and a brother-in-law claims the reincarnated Elijah has been practicing frauds in business. Why shouldn't he? A fraud healer can hardly be expected to be an honorable man in business.

LaCrosse Republican and Leader: When Russia wanted something quite up-to-date in the line of sleeping cars for this generation, she placed orders in America.

Superior Telegram: A contemporary down state is credited with saying there are more "dears" than deer in Douglas county. Of course this is intended as a joke and as such we will take it but there is no question but what there is a plentiful supply of both and if there should be any shortage further down the state Douglas county will come to the rescue.

Eau Claire Leader: What is wanted in Wisconsin is not so much officials to issue licenses for shooting as officials who can apply the proper tests to applicants for licenses and grants licenses to those only, who in their view of the case, can easily distinguish between a deer and a man and discriminate in favor of the latter.

Appleton Post: The very latest thing really ought to be trust insurance against Congressman Babcock—LaCrosse Chronical.

The trusts are trying to perform the function of a "Babcock extinguisher."

Evening Wisconsin: The St. Louis astrologer who has cast the horoscope of President Roosevelt has done his work with the cleverness of a politician who is "touching" an appointing power for a job.

Milwaukee Journal: The fact that John Strange hired the special train for $50 per day does not change the further fact that it was less than current rates, and that therefore a candidate who rode on it was violating the law.

Milwaukee Sentinel: If Colonel Arthur Lynch is elected to represent an Irish constituency in parliament he will get closer to the hereditary foe than he did while serving the Boer cause in South Africa, and probably with more disastrous results to himself.

POSTSCRIPTS.

Wouldn't Answer the Purpose. "No," said the patent medicine man, "that circular won't do at all." "Why not?" asked the assistant. "You haven't enough symptoms incorporated in it," was the reply. "Why, it would be possibly for a real healthy man to read it with out being convinced that there was anything serious the matter with him."

No Interest in Him. "Why is it," asked the jailor, "that you give no attention to the man in the end cell?" "Because," answered the woman who led the jail-visiting delegation, "he refuses to admit that it was liquor that brought him to this condition."

Properly Described. "What is a paramount issue?" "It's the particular issue that a speaker finds it easiest to discuss."

Proof of Square Dealing. "Is the storekeeper honest?" "Honest! Well, rather! Why, he'll let you open either end of the apple barrel before purchasing."

That Lovely Age. "There is an age," said the wise man of Willow Hollow, "when a girl is too old and too young for kissing games. Just at that time in her life she does not need any excuse to get all that she wants."

"Spell shoes," said the teacher. "S-h-o-e-s," returned the little one promptly.

"Correct," said the teacher. "Of course you know what they are."

The little one nodded his head violently.

"My papa says," he announced, "that shoes are what drive the father of a family into bankruptcy!"—Chicago Post.

The total tax to be raised in the county for all purposes is $168,875.35. The city, town and village clerks will receive their statements of tax due on November 23.

Agree on Reduced Rates.

All the Chicago-St. Paul lines have agreed to reduce the passenger rates from St. Paul to New York, via the standard lines, to $27. This is a reduction of $4.50. The standard lines east from Chicago have accepted the rate which means that they have abandoned their old contention for full tariff rates, and will hereafter prorate with their Northwestern connections in whatever rates may be deemed necessary to meet the Soo Line competition.

CHASINGTHE*PIGSKIN

Yale and Harvard meet in their annual gridiron struggle Nov. 23. The game will be played in Cambridge this year, and the Harvard managers have completed arrangements to accommodate upward of 35,000 or 40,000 spectators. These two New England universities always put forth their best efforts when competing against each other. It matters not whether on the debating platform or the athletic field.

After a careful sizing up of the condition and prospects of the rival elevens a belief in Yale's ultimate triumph over the crimson is strongly presented. The New Haven boys have been putting up a good article of football this season, and, although but a short period—one week—separates the game with Princeton from the Harvard contest, the sons of Old Eli will undoubtedly toe the mark in splendid shape when the starting whistle blows.

Yale's team is not particularly brilliant in any one part of the game, but as an average the eleven shows a favorable front. The line is heavy and strong, though not so scientific as the coaches have anticipated. Glass, the freshman giant, strengthens the center of the line materially. The blue, however, is none too well protected on the ends, and it is probable that Bill Reid's protégés will make good use of this condition should occasion offer. Yale's back field is superior to that of Harvard, man for man. Johnny De Saulles at quarter is following in the footsteps of his famous brother Charley, who gave the signals for Yale in

JIMMY SHELDON, CAPTAIN CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

1897 and 1898. De Saulles handles the team well and carries the ball himself for comfortable gains, but he has a tendency to fumble kicks. This was noticeable in the West Point game when he "muffed" two or three punts, hazarding his team's goal. Weymouth's work at full back was creditable early in the season, and Captain Charley Gould considered the position acceptably filled. Weymouth slumped, however, and Gould removed him to the "scrub" for a short time. Weymouth then took a sudden brace, but whether or not it lasts until the Harvard game is a matter of conjecture. Captain Gould may play the full back position against Harvard.

The Cambridge kickers seem to be inferior to both Yale and Princeton in many respects. They are not getting into the game with the old time Harvard vim. Perhaps it is the realization of their own weakness that causes this state of affairs. At any rate, Head Coach Reid has had much to contend with, and if his charges win against Yale it will be mainly due to his efforts.

The best man in the Harvard lineup is Captain Dave Campbell. At left end he is alone in his class throughout the whole collegiate world. The backs are not to be depended on against a team of Yale's caliber this year, and the line is not above the average.

Expect judges of football form are of the opinion that Yale will on a smaller scale duplicate her victory of last year.

Captain Jimmy Sheldon of Chicago university may never play football again. His injuries in the game with Pennsylvania were of such a serious nature that his life was at first despaired of. Jimmy Sheldon is one of the pluckiest football players in the country today. His team has not been so successful as usual, but that is not due to fault on the part of the doughty little captain.

Sheldon plays at quarter. He is a heady player, intuitively scenting out the weak spots in the enemy's defense. He is said to be the smallest man who ever captained a team in this country. Sheldon has the confidence of Head Coach Alonzo A. Stagg and of his men, and they view his serious injury as a severe blow to the team's chances for a creditable season's record.

NUT COOKERY.DROP CAKES OF VARIOUS KINDS—WALNUTS AND WHIPPED CREAM.

To make almond drops stir until creamy half a cup of butter; then stir into it half a cup of powdered sugar; add the yolks of three eggs, putting in one at a time and thoroughly mixing before the next one is added. Blinche and cut into shreds one cup of almonds and add to the mixture. Sift one and a half cups of flour and stir gently with the other ingredients. Sift some powdered sugar into a soap plate, roll in the sugar. Place the sugared balls upon buttered tin, leaving a space between them. Lay half of a blanched almond on the top of each ball and bake in a moderate oven a delicate color.

Another drop nut cake is made thus: Have two cups of shelled peanuts or any kind of nuts and chop them rather fine. Take one cup of sugar, add two tablespoonsfuls of butter and stir to a cream. Put in the yolks of three eggs, adding one at a time and beating well.

Then stir in half a cup of milk and a pinch of salt. Add a little sifted flour and the nut meats, then the whites of the eggs beaten light and enough flour to make a dough that will drop from the spoon, but not run. Drop in spoonfuls upon a buttered tin and bake in a moderate oven.

Walnuts served with whipped cream make an excellent dessert. Drop English walnut meats into boiling salted water and cook ten minutes; then turn them out to drain. Make a syrup of equal parts of granulated sugar and water and put the drained meats into it and let them slowly simmer over the back of the fire half an hour. Turn them into a glass dish and serve perfectly cold with whipped cream.

To serve chestnuts with cream for desserts remove the shells and skins from the large imported chestnuts and boil them in water until tender. Then put them in a rich hot syrup and cook until clear. Take from the fire and let the nuts remain in the syrup until cold. Drain the nuts out and pile them upon a dish. Cook the syrup down until very thick and pour over the nuts. When cold, serve with cream flavored with wine and whipped light and frothy.

STYLES FOR YOUNG FOLK.DRESSY FROCKS IN VELETTEN AND SATIN FOR SMALL GIRLS.

Nowhere does the present favor for velveteen show more prettily than in the dress of little folk. A good style in this material is illustrated in the dress for a girl of about ten years. The velveeten is soft, hand embroidered and has a yoke and pannings of soft silk. For a child of three is shown a satin frock with sash and vest of chiffon and an embroidered waistcoat of forget-me-nots in white satin.

A CREAM FOR WRINKLES.
Some women to whose skin glycerin is unsuitable use the following preparation to prevent wrinkles: One ounce of wool fat, one ounce of white wax, one ounce of spermaceti, one ounce of olive oil and a quarter of an ounce of camphor gum.

The camphor gum should be dissolved in the oil. Add everything else, warm until the mass is melted; then beat until cold. Use the cream on retiring. The wool fat restores the fatty substance to the empty tissues and helps to make the skin firm and healthy.

SUNSHINE.

"Tis a Dutch proverb that "paint costs nothing," such are its preserving costs in damp climates. Well, sunshine costs less, yet it is finer pigment. And so of cheerfulness or good temper—the more it is spent the more it remains.

THEATER WAISTS.BASKETS, FLOWERS AND OTHER FEATURES OF EVENING GOWNS.

Charming theater waists are made of Flemish lace and tucked white chiffon, and it is pretty to give them a little color by using pink or green chiffon underneath for the lining. In some instances the chiffon is the only lining. In others there is a corset-shaped lining of silk which is boned.

Loops of black velvet ribbon clasped with a jeweled buckle make a pretty finish. Another idea for a theater waist is white chantilly lace dotted over with opalescent spangles and made over chiffon.

There seems to be no end to the clever ways of combining different kinds of lace in one garment, and the new lace edgings and insertions show the mixture of meshes, braids and stitches peculiar to special kinds of lace. For example, filet, cluny and a Russian braid form one very elegant insertion.

Among other fancy materials for theater waists are the black nets with white wings, tucked white net with black rings, the flowered nets, tucked, alternate bands of tucked silk and lace insertion and narrow mouseline ribbon set together with an openwork stitch.

For the stylish black lace gown real chantilly net patterned with little rings is used, tucked in fine vertical lines for the top of the skirt and trimmed with graduated rows of black velvet around the lower half. A series of black velvet rings or crescents arranged in the form of a tablier are very pretty, too, on the net.

Black mouseline de sole over white chiffon and white silk forms another pretty model. The theater waist illustrated is of lace and chiffon.

For a youthful evening gown white chiffon tucked all over with a half inch tuck and a narrow tuck at either side of it is very simple. This tucking is arranged diagonally over the bodice and skirt, which is finished with a ruched hem of the chiffon not more than ten inches wide.

Tucks of some sort are quite a feature of evening dress, and you see, too, a fancy buckle or an ornament at the back of the belt on a short, fanlike plating of satin or chiffon, which makes a pretty finish suggested by the position on heavier gowns.

The skirts of all the dressy gowns are long, with trains quite as pronounced as ever, and the sleeves are dresden, very fussy and varied in the modes of decoration. The strictly evening sleeve for the decollete gown varies in length between the elbow sleeve and the short, almost no, sleeve, which is so much liked by women with pretty arms.

Flowers are used quite extensively as a decoration for evening gowns, pink roses especially. They are caught at intervals in the chiffon frills all around the hem of one pretty lace gown, scattered over the white satin ribbon sash and arranged on the neck and sleeves.

Flowers made of ribbon are the novelty, and they fall from stems like other artificial flowers, quite unlike the chiffon and silk blossoms attached flat to the surface, which were so much liked last season.

Many of the dressy gowns for evening wear at home are in the empire form, with an abundance of embroidery on the short bodice.

In the dressy cloth costumes velvet waists of the same color are a feature. Dark gray, a blue which is almost black and all the creamy tints of beige are popular. A Russian wool lace is one of the trimmings; but rather sparingly used, says the New York Sun, the source of the foregoing.

HER WEDDING TOE.

A woman without arms has been married at Christchurch, New Zealand. The ring was placed upon the fourth toe of her left foot. A similar marriage to this was performed at St. James' church, Bury St. Edmunds, in 1832.—Melbourne Argus.

SCROFULATHE OFFSPRING OF HEREDITARY BLOOD TAINT.

Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood and Consumption. The parent who is tainted by either will see in the child the same disease manifesting itself in the form of swollen glands of the neck and throat, catarrh, weak eyes, offensive sores and abscesses and often times white swelling—sure signs of Scrofula. There may be no external signs for a long time, for the disease develops slowly in some cases, but the poison is in the blood and will break out at the first favorable opportunity. S. S. S. cures this wasting, destructive disease by first purifying and building up the blood and stimulating and invigorating the whole system.

J. M. Seal, 115 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn., says: "Ten years ago my wife and I had a daughter. From this would the glands on the side of her face because swollen and burst. Some of the best doctors here and elsewhere attended her without any benefit. We decided to try S. S. S., and a few bottles cured her entirely."

SSS makes new and pure blood to nourish and strengthen the body, and is a positive and safe cure for Scrofula. It overcomes all forms of blood poison, whether inherited or acquired, and no remedy so thoroughly and effectively cleanses the blood. If you have any blood trouble, or your child has inherited some blood taint, take S. S. S. and get the blood in good condition and prevent the disease doing further damage.

Clyde Fitch's new comedy, "The Way of the World," at the Victoria theater, bids fair to become a success from the box office point of view; but, taken all in all, the production does not fully attain to the standard maintained by Mr. Fitch in various of his former plays.

"The Way of the World" is a portrayal of exclusive social life wherein the personal and domestic affairs of members of the Four Hundred are illustrated.

ELSIE DE WOLFE.

generally turned inside out for the delineation of the public. The playwright has dealt daringly with his topic, losing no opportunity to add strength to the motif, but he fails utterly in giving a truthful, consistent, unprejudiced representation of the actual phase of the social question with which he is dealing.

Few experienced persons deny that the so called "smart set" countenances much of frivolity, indiscriminate recognition and favoritism and oftentimes passes, unchallenged, laxity of morals among its members. Mr. Fitch, however, has clearly gone to an extreme. He has unduly accentuated this side of social life, almost entirely ignoring beneficial influences and impulses of folly of affluence whose situation in a measure relieves them from responsibility and leaves open a life of ease.

Therefore "The Way of the World" should not be taken seriously by those desiring a correct picture of high life and high living.

Miss Elsie de Wolfe is brought forth conspicuously as the drama's star. She impersonated a fictitious Mrs. Croyden, whose transgressions, insignificant in themselves, resulting from her husband's lack of domestic attentions, culminated in one of the scandals which are the burden of the majority of divorce court cases.

A brief synopsis is sufficient to give the trend of the story. Mr. and Mrs. Croyden are happily married, but childless. The husband's ambitions lead him to become a candidate for the office of governor. During the campaign he is much away from home. Meanwhile his wife amuses herself in an innocent flirtation with a married man.

On the eve of the election a child comes to bless the Croyden household. Political enemies of the candidate cast a reflection on its paternity and use the charge to bring about the father's defeat. Croyden ignores the scandal for awhile, but finally begins to suspect that the stories are true. He turns on his wife in bitter invective and scorn, interrupts the baptismal ceremony and takes steps to procure a divorce.

Interference by a friend who has had his share of domestic troubles brings the husband back to his senses, and the injured wife loyally and generously forgives as abruptly as he asked for pardon. The play ends satisfactorily, but the question arises:

"Would a woman so shamefully wronged have acted so generously in real life?" Surely she could never forget the unjust accusation. The memory could with difficulty fail to affect her future bearing toward her husband. And would a husband, persuaded that his home had been violated, have been content to dismiss the alleged wrecker with the passing remark that he would refer the matter to his attorneys the next morning? In real life the domestic affairs of the Croydens would have hung fire.

Miss de Wolfe's acting is a series of contradictions. She gives the outward suggestion of the woman she seeks to impersonate. She seems to be aware of her emotional limitations and does not attempt to overtax her powers. But her emotional deficiency is apparent. She does not rise to the demands of the scene. She impersonates the society woman, but not the wife whose thoughtless folly has precipitated a grave domestic crisis.

It is Mrs. Clara Bloodgood who proves to be the real heroine of the play. She impersonates a typical woman of the world, divorced, cynical, outspoken, impulsive, but, withal, an innate spirit of kindness and appreciation. She pictures the type so naturally and spontaneously that from the first she carries the sympathy of the audience. In her illustrations of the "worldly woman" character Mrs. Bloodgood is somewhat similar to Eliza Proctor Otis and Amelia Bling.

The men of Mr. Fitch's play are its weakness. The defect seems to be equally the fault of the author and the actors. Frank Mills does not fail to the character of Croyden the fine intelligence and lofty purpose which, in the minds of the other personages in the play, he seems to possess. The character of Nevill, whose misplaced affections nearly wrecked the domestic happiness of the household, was positively repellent. Vincent Serrano gave the villain neither fascination nor keen personal interest. Harrison Hunter, however, as the peacemaker, carried conviction as a broadminded, sensible man. His appeal to Croyden in the christening scene was deeply and truly sympathetic.

The manner in which the play is mounted is lavish in its richness. The mechanism by which the movements of its characters are controlled is admirable. The participants moved through the scenes as in real life. The gradual development of the drama to its culmination is dexterous.

This play cannot fail to attract interest. It will be thoroughly enjoyed as a clever picture of social manners set before the footlights, but its story will not be accepted seriously as the logical conduct of men and women in reality, confronted by the grave dilemma which constitutes its theme. In other plays Mr. Fitch has been impeded in his plots.

The recent death of the renowned Chinese statesman, Li Hung Chang, brings to mind an interesting little episode in which Joseph Canto, now with Powers in "The Messenger Boy," took a part.

Canto plays the part of Sing Hui in "The Messenger Boy" and is costumed as a counterpart of Li Hung Chang. Photographs of Canto were taken and one found its way to Peking, where it was printed in one of the capital's newspapers by John Harliday, an English correspondent.

Earl Li saw the print and was greatly amused. He asked for the original photograph and Harliday sent to America for one. It was promptly mailed to the orient, but failed to reach Peking before the Mongol dignitary died.

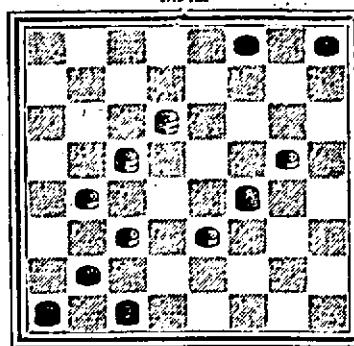

Berlin playwrights eminent as Blumenthal and Schonthau have taken to the rhyming of their comedies. The practice was neglected during several years, but is now in probably ephemeral revival. Blumenthal's new piece, "The Fairy Caprice," is in verse. The capricious fairy is a young wife of a doting husband, who tries various remedies for her weakness of marital conscience and at length finds a cure in the exposure of her poet lover as a rogue. Schonthau's play in rhyme is "Florio and Flavio," setting forth humorously the adventures of two fellows as a pretended conut and his servant. These two compositions are described as entertaining, but inconsequential.

William Faversham is to start on a tour Dec. 1 with "A Royal Rival" and on his return will act at the Criterion in a new drama by Justin Huntly McCarthy, whose reputation has risen with "If I Were King." Henry V. Esmond has arrived in this city to see the Empire company's rehearsals of his play, "The Wilderness."

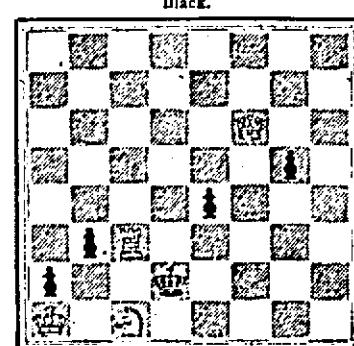

An intelligent mother in Butler, Pa., says: "Were I to need Mother's Friend again, I would do it in portos if I had to pay $10 per bottle for it."

FRESH EDITOR HAS MADE A MISTAKE

A PIN-HEADED ATTEMPT TO RAISE SMALL-POX SCARE.

In Reliation for Some Alleged Thing Done in Janesville a Year Ago, an Effort is Made to Get Square—No. Danger From Small-Pox in Janesville.

The Edgerton Eagle, a paper published at Edgerton and the Rock County Journal, published at Milton, Wis., both under the management of W. K. Davis, are out this week with a double column scare head article announcing that "Janesville Has Smallpox." It says:

"Janesville has had a well-developed case of the smallpox for more than a week. The patient rooms on Corn Exchange in the down town district and many persons have been exposed. The victim came recently from Evansville, where several cases of the disease have developed. The health officers and newspapers have known this case but have refrained from making it known because it may injure the business of the city."

"Last winter when the disease was discovered in Milton and later when a case was discovered in Edgerton, Janesville papers published numerous false and harmful reports about the conditions. After creating considerable ill feeling the Gazette tried to explain and promised that in case smallpox ever appeared in Janesville that paper would promptly publish the fact that the public might be protected."

The facts of the case are that there is a case of smallpox in the city. The patient Mrs. John Baisle, resides at 144 North Jackson street, and has been under strict quarantine ever since the case developed, and no one has been exposed to the disease. The case is one of the very lightest kind and at no time has the woman been confined to her bed or felt any bad symptoms. She is now practically well, although the quarantine will not be raised for about two weeks.

There has been no stagnation of business on this account and neither Edgerton nor Milton have been called upon for any trained nurses. The publisher of the Eagle and Journal evidently has fears that his exchanges from this city will carry the germs into his offices.

There has been no case in any rooms in the Corn Exchange block and this is the only case in the city. Janesville will consider herself very fortunate if there is not more or less of the disease in the city during the coming winter, on account of its prevalence throughout the state.

Health Officer Flifield is keeping close watch for the appearance of the disease and has everything in readiness to take care of any outbreak.

LEAPED INTO A FURNACE.

Terrible Means of Suicide Adopted at Pittsburgh Rolling Mill.
Pittsburg, Nov. 22.—A few moments after midnight an unknown man threw himself headlong into one of the furnaces at Schoenberger's mills, Fourteenth and Penn streets. Almost his entire body was roasted beyond identification, his left foot being the only part not disfigured.

A few moments before midnight the man was seen to enter the mill yards and stand at the foot of the hoisting car which carries ore, coke, and other supplies for the furnace. The moment that a warning was sounded for the cage to ascend with its burden three workmen saw the scuttle jump on the platform and stand within a few feet of them.

They were confused, and did not know what to think of him, as no one but employee is allowed on these cages. When the top of the furnace was reached, nearly 100 feet from the level, Thomas Lee determined to order him away. The huge crib was opened to allow the car of coke to roll into the furnace, and the bell was lifted, throwing a terrific heat from the fiery substance underneath.

Lee had not had time to open his mouth when the man threw himself headlong into the furnace. Quick as a flash Lee saw the action and dropped the bell, but all too late. The man was buried head and shoulders in the flames. The lid of the bell caught his left foot, saving only it from being consumed. He was pulled out by the three men, but nearly every part of his body resembled a piece of half-cooked meat.

No one can remember of ever having seen him before, and it is probable he will never be identified. The body was removed to the morgue. The man was about 35 years old, medium height, sandy mustache, and apparently an American. He wore black laced shoes.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO BANDITS.

Consul Gives Six Days to Accept $60,000 for Miss Stone's Release.

Sofia, Nov. 22.—Consul General Dickinson, according to the Velera Posta, whose editor was a member of the former Macedonian committee, has sent an ultimatum to the brigands giving them six days to accept $60,000 as the ransom for Miss Stone. If this amount is not accepted within the time mentioned Mr. Dickinson's offer will be withdrawn.

From the latest intelligence received here it appears that the brigands are holding out for a high ransom and it is asserted that they are able to keep their captives as long as this may be necessary. The foreign office here represents the insinuation that the government is acting in bad faith, and in explaining its attitude toward Consul-General Dickinson affirms its entire readiness to take any action suggested by him.

Raines Law Approved.

Fort Worth, Nov. 22.—The W. C. T. U. convention closed last night after adopting resolutions urging that the Raines law be not changed, as it exists in New York, and that it be more strictly enforced.

The executive board remained to select the next meeting place and transact other business. Portland, Me., was chosen for the next convention. The date will be fixed by the executive board. The board considered routine business and appropriations to be allotted to the various departments for expenses.

Not Afraid of the Brigands.

New York, Nov. 22.—Undismayed by the fate of Miss Stone, the kidnapped missionary, Miss Mary Roys, a girl from La Crosse, Wis., became the wife of Leroy Ostrander, who will take her to Samakoy, Turkey, the very station from which Miss Stone was taken by the Bulgarian brigands. Mr. Ostrander expects to assume the post of an instructor in a missionary school at Samakoy, and his bride will help him. The bride's mother is Mrs. George W. Cole of this city, and the wedding took place at her home. Mr. Ostrander is from Troy, N. Y.

Draconian Tennessee Fire.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 22.—A telephone message from Bells, Tenn., on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, eighty-five miles north of Memphis, states that a fire broke out there this morning in the lumber yard of the Sherrod Lumber company, destroying 340,000 feet of seasoned stock, the L. & N. depot and the warehouse of the Standard Oil company.

Outlawry in Arizona.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 22.—A number of Arizona Rangers are pursuing two desperadoes who held up a man at Naco a few days ago and robbed him of several hundred dollars. The Rangers are having their hands full at Naco since they have been stationed there owing to outlawry prevalent there since the new border town sprung into existence.

Daly's Widow Elected.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Daly, widow of Marcus Daly, known during his lifetime as the "Copper King," has been elected a member of the board of lady managers of the world's fair. Mrs. Daly resides at Anatona, Mont. Her name was proposed by Commissioner Thomas H. Carter of Montana and was accepted by the unanimous vote of the commission.

Sentence Commuted.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—The board of pardons has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of George M. McMurray of Pittsburgh, whose case has been pending before the board since April.

New Amer Is Kept Busy.

London, Nov. 22.—A dispatch from Allahabad to the Times says that Amer Habib Ullah is busily engaged in state affairs, the period of forty days' mourning for his father having expired.

Replies to a message of condolence on the death of the late Amer, and of congratulation upon his own accession, Habib Ullah informed the Afridis that he would follow in the footsteps of Abdur Rahman. In all things relating to the Afridi welfare, Afghan refugees from India are now journeying to Kabul in large numbers though only those with passports are allowed to pass Jamrud (at the foot of the Khyber pass).

Want Eight Rides for Quarter.
Elgin, Ill., Nov. 22.—Eight rides for 25 cents is the concession which the joint committee from the city council have decided to ask from the Elgin, Aurora & Southern Traction Company in exchange for a twenty-year franchise. Inasmuch as the old franchise for the principal lines does not expire until the year 1917, a new twenty-year franchise will mean extension of only four years.

Sampson's Son for the Navy.
Washington, Nov. 22.—The next Annapolis cadet at large to be appointed will be the son of Rear Admiral Sampson. It is understood that the president is carrying out a decision made by the late President McKinley.

Consignine Cleared of Murder Charge.
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—John W. Consignine was declared "not guilty" of the murder of ex-Chief of Police William L. Meredith by a jury in the King County court late in the afternoon. It is not thought probable that Tom Consignine, who is also charged with the murder of Meredith, will be brought to trial. The killing grew out of a political gambling feud of long standing. Meredith was killed by Consignine on June 15. Meredith was chief of police, and had just resigned as the outcome of a successful campaign waged against his administration by Consignine.

Elmer at Age of 120 Years.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Abram Ephraim Elmer, believed to have been the oldest man in the United States, is dead at his home in this city. His relatives say he was nearly 120 years old. His son in Wisconsin has the family Bible, and a copy of the record it contains is in the possession of his son in this city. It states that Mr. Elmer was born in the Town of Warren, Herkimer County, on Jan. 26, 1782.

Mrs. Dale Is Arraigned.
New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dale of Chicago, who was arrested last night in Hoboken, being accused of the murder of her 5-year-old daughter Emilie, has been arraigned in Hoboken before Recorder Stanton. She pleaded not guilty.

She fainted in court once and only the prompt attention of court officers saved her from collapsing two or three times afterward.

Breckenridge Ousted.
Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 22.—The court of appeals rendered a decision yesterday ousting Attorney General Breckenridge from office in favor of Clifton J. Pratt, Republican. They ran on the same ticket with Goebel and Taylor, but Pratt waited to appeal until after the election had given the Republicans a majority of the court of appeals.

Whaling Ship Sails.
San Francisco, Nov. 22.—The bark California has sailed for the South sea, the coast of Japan and the Okhotsk sea on a whaling cruise of nearly a year's duration. The next whaler to sail will probably be the Alice Knowles which has taken stores aboard and is to leave port next Tuesday.

Captured by Protectionists.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—The national reciprocity convention, which was expected to do great things for the cause of reciprocity, adjourned one day ahead of time, after the ultraprotectionists had captured it and passed resolutions that are practically meaningless.

State and County Taxes.

County Clerk Starr has completed the tabulated statement of the state and county taxes due from each town and village in the county. The total tax due from the City of Janesville is $34,267.88, divided as follows: state, $17,732.66; county, $11,755.26; school, $3,063.99; soldiers' relief, $855. The total tax to be raised in the county for all purposes is $168,878.35. The city, town and village clerks will receive their statements of tax due on November 23.

Agree on Reduced Rates.

All the Chicago-St. Paul lines have agreed to reduce the passenger rates from St. Paul to New York, via the standard lines, to $27. This is a reduction of $4.50. The standard lines east from Chicago have accepted the rate which means that they have abandoned their old contention for full tariff rates, and will hereafter pro-rate with their Northwestern connections in whatever rates may be deemed necessary to meet the Soo Line competition.

Sifting the Flour.

Cake flour should always be sifted twice, first when it comes from the barrel and before it is measured, next when the baking powder or the soda has been added. If it is measured before the first sifting, you will surely get too much of it for your cake's welfare. On a damp day or when the flour seems at all clammy set it where it will dry without browning before you are ready to use it.

Fashion's Echoes.

Of all forms of the fancy waist none is so sensible nor so deservedly popular as the winter shirt waist, whether in silk, satin, fine cloth, nun's velveteen or flannel.

Oak leaves that are charming from the milliner's standpoint are to be seen in all colors of velvet.

Stocks in delicate colors, pink and blue and heliotrope velvet, are made in the form of a deep turn over collar, the edges of the collar finished with a narrow edge of cream lace.

Long, fine silver chains are worn again. They must be very fine and have one single inset gem of some sort suspended therefrom.

The long bows add very much to the effect of long coats which are not very elaborately trimmed.

Deep cape collars of heavy lace, such as Venetian, Irish crochet and guipure, are a special feature of outdoor garments.

Entire velvet costumes are made with a coat which almost covers the handsome skirt.

Queen Diana Not Shot at.

Vienna, Nov. 22.—An official German statement declares there is absolutely no foundation in the report that Queen Diana has been shot at or that she has an unlit cigarette.

WEST'S MINSTRELS. Twentieth century minstrels as conceived by William H. West is something more than an array of thickened faces surmounting a vast expanse of white shirt bosom, a woolly headed, darky with a game leg and an umbrella, and a coarse farce in which the slap-stick comedian is the leading man—these constituting the first part, the olio and the after piece as our fathers knew them. Minstrelsy is exemplified in Mr. West's Big Jubilee, which is about to be presented here, retains the black faced end man as a concession to sentiment, but he is an up-to-date end man, not entirely dependent upon burnt cork for his favor with the audience. Between him and his fellow comedians at the other end of the semi-circle familiar in the capitals of Europe, who have an imposing operatic repertoire, and who draw salaries not unworthy of New York's Metropolitan Opera House associates. Associated with them are still others, whose daring feats are novel specialties would supply a dozen vaudeville houses with "top-liners." And this is but a part of the complete explanation of modern minstrelsy as known to Mr. West. Mr. West's company will appear here tonight.

Woes of Potato Growers. Potatoes shippers of the northwest fear that the car shortage is going to deprive them of much of the benefit they hoped to derive from the peculiar conditions which now exist on the market.

This year the bulk of private car line refrigerator equipment is owned by the Armour Car Co. and owing to large meat and fruit business there are none of these cars to spare for the potato traffic. In consequence shippers are compelled to accept box cars, and equip each one with a stove as well as send a man in charge of the cars, and this adds considerably to the cost of transportation.

To Colonize the Northwest. The Great Northern will make most strenuous efforts to colonize the Northwest. The East is to be flooded with pamphlets, folders, bulletins, circulars, and advertising in newspapers telling of the resources of the unoccupied lands of Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. Officials of the immigration department will follow to secure parties to go west in the spring through the Chicago and St. Paul gateways. The Kootenay country will be brought to the attention of Eastern people by 15,000 folders and 20,000 booklets.
